Letter from the President

Dear Friends,

It's hard to believe we are already halfway through SPBC FAWL's 2018-2019 year! We have accomplished so much thanks to the incredible work and dedication of our Board of Directors, the continued support and guidance of our Past Presidents, and the participation and feedback of our membership.

We are currently at approximately 100 members and I am thrilled to welcome the 10 brand new members of SPBC FAWL this year. I want to express my gratitude to our annual sponsors, many of whom have supported our chapter for several years, and our newer sponsors who have become great partners. This year's annual sponsors include: Platinum—The Law Offices of Robin Bresky; Lesser, Lesser, Landy & Smith, PLLC; Furr Cohen; Signature Paradise Realty International; BNY Mellon Wealth Management; Attorney at Law Magazine; Comcast Business; Your Sign Guy; Duree & Associates; Gold—Cinnamin O'Shell, CPA and TBS Law, PA. A thank you as well to our event sponsors.

SPBC FAWL has always had so many wonderful events and networking opportunities, and this year is no exception. We were very excited to try a new venue for our Membership Reception and monthly luncheons this year, and Novello has not disappointed. We had an outstanding turnout for SPBC FAWL's Annual Think Pink luncheon at The Addison. A huge thank you to all who attended and purchased raffle tickets—because of you we donated $660 to the Lynn Women's Institute. The Holiday Party, once again being held at the Seagate Country Club, promises to be a fun and festive event. We look forward to updating you on how many pairs of shoes we are able to donate to kids in need through In Jacob's Shoes—the charity we have chosen to support this Holiday Season.

In the coming months we look forward to the joint luncheon with SPBCBA, a viewing of the new Ruth Bader Ginsburg movie “RBG,” and the Annual Judicial Reception to benefit Legal Aid of Palm Beach County, which will be held at the newly renovated Cornell Museum at Old School Square. We also have the Woman Lawyer of the Year Award event at which we will honor our own Robin Bresky. We are also looking forward to our regular monthly luncheons and are planning another Happy Hour for the Spring and a family friendly weekend event. This year, the State FAWL Annual Meeting will be held right here in Boca Raton. We are already working with State FAWL and PBC FAWL to increase our presence as attendees and volunteers. The tentative dates of the Meeting are June 26-28 at the Boca Raton Resort. The Awards and Installation Gala will be on June 26. I hope to see everyone there!

This year has gotten off to a great start and I know the best is yet to come. I am so proud to be President of this dynamic and supportive group of women and men. And I am so grateful to the Board of Directors and our Past Presidents for your time, energy, dedication and support. Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to be your President.

Best regards,
Melissa Melzer Feingold, President of SPBC FAWL

SPRING IN REVIEW

by Staci L. Burton, Esq.

South Palm Beach County FAWL has had an eventful year thus far, and we are just getting started!

The Board convened in July for our annual planning retreat, and since then, we have been busy planning yet another wonderful year for South Palm Beach County FAWL. As you can already see from our fabulous events so far, the planning retreat was a fruitful one.

We kicked off the new Bar year with our Membership Reception at Novello on September 13, 2018. Our generous sponsors, great location, and amazing members made for the perfect evening.

On September 20, 2018, South Palm Beach County FAWL, Palm Beach County FAWL, and State FAWL sponsored Constitution Day at FAU. The presentation on the separation of powers included panelists Justice Barbara Pariente, Judge Cymonie Rowe, Sia Baker Barnes, and Professor Mark Tunick.

We held our THINK PINK! Breast Cancer Awareness Luncheon and Silent Auction at the Addison on October 11, 2018. We had an informative and fun afternoon listening to speakers, Dr. Kathy Schilling and Maureen Mann. Dr. Schilling spoke about the importance of early breast cancer detection services and breast health education, as one size does not fit all. Proceeds from the silent auction totaling $660 were donated to the Lynn Cancer Institute.

Judge Luis Delgado graciously spoke at our November membership luncheon at Novello. Everyone in attendance was touched by Judge Delgado's personal story and the work that he does in the juvenile division to influence our local youth on a daily basis. We were also provided with numerous ideas about how to get involved and give back to juveniles in the court system. We hope that some of you have taken advantage of some of those excellent opportunities!

Our first Happy Hour of the year took place on November 13, 2018 at Ouzo Bay in Mizner. We had a great evening of networking, drinks, and appetizers.

That brings us here, to our Holiday Party, once again at the beautiful Seagate Country Club! We wish you all a very happy holidays and a happy new year. Stay tuned for the many exciting events in store for South Palm Beach County FAWL in 2019. See you next year!

SPBC FAWL participates in Constitution Day at FAU, where Florida Supreme Court Justice Barbara Pariente was a featured panelist.

MEMBER NEWS, EVENTS, & OPPORTUNITIES

Robin Bresky, Esq. is pleased to invite you to the Bresky Bash: an interactive, open-to-the-public, family afternoon event at Mizner Park Amphitheater in Boca Raton on Sunday, January 13, 2019, from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M., sponsored by The Law Offices of Robin Bresky. The afternoon will include music, food, entertainment, children's activities, food trucks, crafts & jewelry shopping. The Bash will feature the first ever Community Dance for Justice, comprised of local celebrities and county leaders. Admission will be $10 for adults; children 17 years old & under are free.

As a local woman and minority-owned firm, Saxena White feels a strong tie to our community and supports efforts to maintain the beauty of South Florida. As a 2018 sponsor to the International Coastal Cleanup event, Saxena White helps organizations like Ocean Conservancy preserve the health of our beaches and marine environment. Keep Palm Beach County Beautiful, Inc. coordinates with the International Coastal Cleanup in Palm Beach County to clean shorelines from Boca Raton to Tequesta and collect standardized data of the debris found by the Volunteers. As a firm, we participated in the ICC and KPBCB's Coastal cleanup that was held on International Beach Cleanup Day. We have further continued our support and teamed up with Boca Save Our Beaches to sponsor a classroom that will educate the local youth about the dangers of marine debris and the impact we, as humans, have on the ocean. Like Boca Save Our Beaches, "we believe that Boca is better when working together."

HOW TO CHOOSE THE RIGHT ATTORNEY

by Andrew J. Rader, Esq.

How do you choose a personal injury attorney? After all, it may be one of the most important decisions you make in your life. If one were to believe the billboards and advertisements, you'd choose the one that is "aggressive", "will get you the money you deserve" and offers a "free consultation." Of course, there's also the ones who offer "no fee unless we're successful!" or the "No Fee Guarantee". In fact, you need to look for an attorney who is competent and with whom you can develop a good working relationship.

Three Truths

1. The "aggressive" attorney (that is, nasty) doesn't get any more money for the client or get money for the client any faster; he's just more unpleasant for everyone to deal with—including the client. And no, despite his claims, the insurance companies are not more afraid of him than they are of other attorneys. They just don't like him.

2. Insurance companies pay money based on their evaluation of the attorney's proven skills of extracting money from insurance companies and the likelihood that the attorney will actually, when push comes to shove, go to trial. They do not make decisions based on attorney advertising.

3. Beware of Lawyer Referral Services. They are generally not run by attorneys and are not regulated by the Florida Bar. If you want a lawyer, call a lawyer.

What to Look for in an Attorney

In my opinion, there are two sets of factors in choosing an attorney. The first looks at the attorney's competency, the second looks at how he interacts with you, his client.

I. Competence and Ability to Follow Through. Ask:

a. About his experience—how many cases has he handled?

b. How long has he been practicing personal injury law?

c. How many trials—actual trials with a jury and verdict—has he done? Insurance companies operate on the fear they're going to get walloped at trial and settle cases based on that fear.

d. Does he have the money to properly finance your case? Cases can cost the attorney tens of thousands for expert witnesses, depositions, and trial preparation.

e. What will he do now? Trial preparation begins the day you walk into the attorney's office. Prompt—like within 24 hours of the injury—investigation is critical. Evidence must be collected before the potential defendant has time to repair or hide the defect. So, pictures of the scene or vehicle, interviews with witnesses, etc. all must be done immediately.

f. Does the attorney handle a limited number of cases? There are many firms that handle thousands of cases like a mill—they're usually more concerned about processing a large volume of cases than paying close attention to a more manageable caseload.

2. The other thing that's important in choosing an attorney is your relationship with him and his staff. Because of extensive discovery and backlogged courts, you may be working with your attorney for years. Therefore, you need someone willing to take the time to help you understand your case and someone who inspires your confidence with strength, integrity, and experience. The attorney's staff must be accessible, knowledgeable and responsive. Of course, communication is also very important—you must understand the legal process and where you are in it.

There are many—some people would say too many—personal injury attorneys out there. Pick the one who is right for the case and right for you.

INCAPACITY PLANNING: THE BASICS

by Heather Boyer Samuels, Esq.

My grandfather, who is 90 years old, likes to repeat the same advice to me every time I see him: the only things that are certain in this life are death and taxes. As an Elder Law Attorney, I would add that as people are living longer, lifesaving medical technology and practices are improving, and as dementia and Alzheimers are on the rise, the other thing that we all ought to worry about is living with incapacity. One of the big differences between Estate Planning Attorneys and Elder Law Attorneys is that Elder Law Attorneys provide increased focus on planning for life in a time of incapacity. This is something that folks of all ages should think about—although it becomes increasingly more likely as we age. Who makes our healthcare decisions if we cannot? It depends.

Florida Law says that if an incapacitated adult has not executed an advance directive or the surrogate in place is not available to make decisions, there is a priority order of decisionmakers. The first is the spouse, the second is the majority of adult children, the third is a concerned adult relative, the fourth is a close friend, and the fifth and beyond are strangers.¹ Additionally, the decisions that the health care proxy can make can be more easily challenged or called into question than those made by a designated health care surrogate in a well-written, personalized, and detailed Health Care Advance Directive document. There also is a time component: while the decisionmaker is identified, a person could experience needless and unwanted pain and suffering. There could also be substantial disagreement among potential decisionmakers leading to guardianship, litigation, and high expense.

A personalized Health Care Advance Directives plan should contain a Living Will, a Health Care Surrogate Designation, and a Health Care Power of Attorney. A Living Will consists of a person's written wishes, properly executed and witnessed, and legally enforceable.² There is a form written right into the statutes at Florida Statutes § 765.303 (2018). In order to execute on the individual's wishes in a living will, the person must suffer from a terminal or end-stage condition or be in a persistent vegetative state.³ A Health Care Surrogate is a competent adult expressly designated by a principal to make health care decisions and to be able to receive protected health information. This is the person or persons who enforce the Living Will. It is important to note here that the principal may decide whether the Surrogate has immediate authority or only upon a determination of the principal's incapacity. The Health Care Power of Attorney in an optional, but important addition to your Health Care Advance Directives because it comes with the more robust enforcement provisions of the Power of Attorney laws.

Health Care Advance Directives should be shared with any treating physicians, and each time a person goes into the hospital. They should be within easy access to anyone that may need them. At my law firm, we provide paper and digital copies of this important document.

In sum, I encourage you and your loved ones, especially those where incapacity looms on the horizon, to complete a comprehensive estate and incapacity plan that includes a robust and personalized health care advanced directive, durable power of attorney, pre-need guardianship designation (especially if you have minor children), and a properly funded estate plan that includes a Will, Trust, and beneficiary designations as appropriate.

SEEKING DISMISSAL OF APPEAL DUE TO APPELLANT'S DISREGARD OF TRIAL COURT'S ORDER: A STRATEGY FOR APPELLEES

by Robin Bresky, Esq. and Randall Burks, Esq.

When your client wins in the trial court, the other party will likely appeal. Your client, as the appellee, will have a statistical edge and some advantages such as the presumption of correctness, the ability to rely on the tipsy coachman doctrine, and the ability to seek dismissal of the appeal on various grounds such as jurisdiction.

One potential basis for dismissal is the Gazil doctrine, where the appellant is defying the order on appeal. “Where the appellant has disobeyed an order of the trial court, the appellate court may, in its discretion ... dismiss an appeal.” Gazil v. Gazil, 343 So. 2d 595, 597 (Fla. 1977). The appellant “cannot invoke the authority of this court at the same time he is scorning the rulings of the trial court.” McLemore v. McLemore, 567 So. 2d 23, 24 (Fla. 1st DCA 1990).

Orders and judgments are normally enforceable while on appeal and, absent a stay, the appellant has a duty to obey the order of the trial court and cooperate with the administration of justice during the appeal even if the order may appear to be erroneous. “The reason that a party may properly be held in contempt for failure to abide by an erroneous order is that the need for obedience to a court order outweighs the individual’s temporary detriment.” Robbie v. Robbie, 726 So. 2d 817, 819 (Fla. 4th DCA 1999).

Thus, an appellant should not unilaterally choose to disregard a court order—even one alleged to be invalid. With language similar to the Fourth District’s Robbie opinion cited above, the Third District has emphasized that the law requires obedience to court orders “regardless of their alleged invalidity” because “the need for obedience to a court order far outweighs any detriment to individuals who may be temporarily victimized by the order, even if erroneous.” Rubin v. State, 490 So. 2d 1001, 1003 (Fla. 3d DCA 1986).

The proper course for an appellant who seeks to avoid compliance with an order deemed erroneous, while it is on appeal, is to seek a stay under Fla. R. App. P. 9.310(a) or post a bond to automatically stay a money judgment under Rule 9.310(b)(1). See McLemore v. McLemore, 567 So. 2d 23, 24 (Fla. 1st DCA 1990) (dismissing the appeal of an appellant who was on the run and hiding to avoid arrest on a writ of bodily attachment, without obtaining a stay or posting a bond). “If a person to whom a court directs an order believes that order is incorrect the remedy is to appeal, but, absent a stay, he must comply promptly with the order pending appeal.” Maness v. Meyers, 419 U.S. 449, 458 (1975).

The courts have dismissed appeals where the appellant was “intentionally and willfully abus[ing] the judicial process” by disregarding the order on appeal. See Davidson v. District Court of Appeal, Fourth Dist., 501 So. 2d 603, 604 (Fla. 1987). “A party in contempt of the trial court cannot seek to invoke the authority of this Court.” Daniels v. JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A., 201 So. 3d 11, 13 (Fla. 3d DCA 2012) (dismissing the appeal based upon the appellants’ non-compliance with post-judgment trial court orders and failure to purge findings of contempt).

An appellant should not be allowed to defy the orders of the trial court and maintain the appeal, although the appellate court will generally provide a grace period for the appellant to purge any contempt. See Davidson, 501 So. 2d at 604 (the time between the filing of the motion to dismiss and the court’s ruling on it constituted a grace period in which to purge the contempt so as to avoid dismissal).

In sum, if the appellant is flouting the trial court’s order, the appellee should consider moving to dismiss the appeal under the Gazil doctrine. See Viacao Aerea Sao Paulo, S.A. v. Pegasus Aviation, Inc., 904 So. 2d 631, 632 (Fla. 3d DCA 2005) (“The appellant has continued to disregard the trial court’s orders, therefore, we exercise our discretion and dismiss this appeal.”). A dismissal would ensure that the trial court’s order will stand and would also save the appellee the time and expense of having to defend against the appeal on the merits.

HOLIDAY DUI: AVOID TOO MUCH OF THE HOLIDAY "SPIRIT"!

by Michelle Merson, Esq.

The holiday season is upon us! 'Tis the season for family, friends, fun—and festivities that offer plenty of chances for indulging in alcoholic beverages. After all, who wants to turn down your aunt's famous spiked eggnog, or your best friend's delicious champagne punch?

The problem comes when it's time to go home. We all know that anyone with any common sense knows better than to drive impaired. But let's face it—when drinking, our common sense may desert us!

In the "spirit" of the holidays, the Misdemeanor Clinic offers these timely reminders about DUIs:

- Under Florida law, a .08 or more in breath alcohol or blood alcohol is above the legal limit. If you blow a .08 or higher, you will go to jail.
- Sobriety tests like walking a line heel to toe or touching your nose give evidence that will be used against you, but despite what a police officer says, it is your legal right to refuse any roadside sobriety test. However, your refusal may be used against you in court.
- Even though you are within your legal rights to refuse breath, blood, or urine tests, a police officer will tell you that your refusal will result in an administrative suspension of your driver's license. That is misleading because in most cases a hardship license can be had. (Note: In cases of an accident with serious bodily injury or death, a driver cannot refuse to provide blood.)
- If you are stopped for suspicion of DUI, the entire transaction and drive to county jail will be videotaped. Good behavior can be helpful—stay in your car unless told otherwise, do not get defensive or sarcastic, and follow instructions. Provide your name and address, and then remain quiet and do not answer any questions.
- Once alcohol is in your system, there is only one sure-fire way to get it out: WAIT. A general rule of thumb is to wait at least one hour after a typical drink before driving. Spend the extra time with your family and friends, and enjoy the rest of the season!

If you or someone you know is a GOOD PERSON who is having a BAD DAY, we're here to help! Please call us at (561) 425-8229 or visit our website at www.misdemeanorclinic.com

DIVISION JS SUMMER PROGRAM

by Tammy B. Saltzman, Esq.

... Judge Luis Delgado and Juvenile Court personnel facilitated the second annual Division JS Summer program over the last few months. The goal was to provide a structured, educational experience to hold youth accountable during the summer and provide them with the opportunity to earn community service, complete court-ordered sanctions including paying court fees and fines, develop skills, and be exposed to and linked with community resources and providers.

The ten-week program was held on Fridays, from 8:30 A.M. to 3:00 P.M., at the South County Courthouse in Delray Beach. In partnership with the South Palm Beach County Florida Association of Women Lawyers (SPBC FAWL) and the South Palm Beach County Bar Association (SPBCBA), a full-day curriculum was designed to offer community service opportunities, assistance with court/probation sanctions, and community partnerships and speaker sessions. Breakfast and lunch were provided weekly, birthdays were celebrated and the youth engaged in a number of team-building activities.

Participants interacting with law enforcement

Ten youth completed the program, four of whom were successfully terminated from Probation. Entities that partnered with the program included: law enforcement, FAU, Department of Juvenile Justice, FAWL, PBC Fire Rescue, PBC Department of Victim Services, CareerSource, PBC Library,

Tammy B. Saltzman, Esq. and participants celebrating at the Back-to-School Bash

Delray Beach Parks and Recreation, X102.3, PBC School District, South Palm Beach County Bar Association, and Sal's Ristorante. Each week, the group earned community service through the creation of greeting cards for veterans; nearly 700 cards were completed and delivered to the VA Hospital in West Palm Beach. The programming concluded with a Back-to-School Bash where youth were provided with a brand-new backpack loaded with school supplies.
